THINGS AT MAMMOTH.—On the 26th ult., a workman in the Mount Vernon Company's shaft had a narrow escape from a fatal injury. The man, named Jack Phillips, was employed in the level filling buckets which were carried out and hoisted up the shaft, and while standing at the bottom a piece of rock fell from the ascending bucket and, striking him on the head, knocked him down. He was insensible when taken up by his fellow-workmen. Although severely injured the man is in a fair way of recovery. We have just emerged from a sensation caused by the appearance of two strangers from Carson, inquiring for one Davis. They said a man of that name had been in Carson with specimens of rich gold quartz and pieces of gold, which he said he had pounded out of the ore obtained from a vein somewhere in the Mammoth range. A man named Davis lives some ten miles north of this camp, in which direction the two illustrious strangers, accompanied by several of our residents, bent their eager steps. The Mount Vernon Company are taking out some uncommonly rich ore from one of their drifts, which, it is estimated, will work up to $200 per ton. Fergnson & Co. are drifting to the southward in the American Flag, and are getting a better quality of ore than they found in the shaft. Major Gillett, of the Ural Company, has sent to the Knickerbocker mill a lot of fine ore taken from the Gould and Curry, and another lot of good ore from the Uncle Sam has been sent to the same mill. Work continues to be prosecuted on the Sacramento, in which the owners are finding a larger vein and better mineral as they proceed. The Albany series of veins open well, and invite further exploration, with every prospect of success. Believing that "in union there is strength," a number of our miners are engaged in an effort to organize a company to develop the mining property of the district. When a member is too poor or unable to develop his veins alone, it is proposed to join hands and purses and unite in developing them, and in this way determine the value of their claims. If the plan is carried out it will prove of great benefit to the district. A mill, too—of which there is now some prospect—would give a wonderful impetus to mining operations, by enabling the miner to get his ore reduced, and employ its silver product for further and more systematic explorationn.—Reveille.

RICH DISCOVERY.—The Sacramento Union says:

We learn that a rich mining discovery was made on Saturday morning, February 23d, at Centreville, or Pilot Hill, in El Dorado county, about fifteen miles from Folsom. About forty pounds of rich ore was taken out of an old quartz ledge owned by Martin, Owen Goodpasture and another individual, most of which ore is pure gold. The ledge is located in the rear of Buchan's store, and it is a pleasant fact that the owners are still taking out the gold plentifully.

A correspondent to the same paper writes as follows:

Quite an excitement was produced at this place on Friday last, by the finding of a rich bowlder in the claim owned by J. S. Martin, Owens, Goodpasture & Co. The bowlder weighed 250 pounds, from which they obtained 36 pounds of pure gold. The gold, being of a fine quality, will coin a little over $8,000. The bowlder laid about three feet below the surface. Some eight years ago a bowlder was found in the claim adjoining, which yielded $1,700.

Some week or two ago, Clark & Co. found a piece which weighed $42, and Woodcock & Co. have of late been making $15 a day to the hand. All the claims in this vicinity are paying good wages. All the claims are situated on ground claimed by ranchers, but I think it will be a hard matter for men to secure patents for ground (for ranches) that will afford a fortune to the "honest miner."

WASHOE INTELLIGENCE.—The Trespass of March 5th has the following:

From a friend who resides at Washoe City, and who arrived in town to-day, we learn that the storm in the valley was very severe, doing much damage. The ditch of the Savage Mining Company has been covered with snow and damaged considerably, but to what extent is not yet known. Business of all kinds was suspended for several days. A large building, formerly occupied by Mr. Leet as a blacksmith shop, was crushed; also a smaller building, unoccupied, likewise. The Manhattan mill has been running nearly all the time, having had some 500 tons of Savage ore in reserve. The mills of the Savage Company are working tailings. The New York and Buckeye mills, and also the Temelec mill at Pleasant Valley, have suspended work. The snow on the Washoe grade is very deep; but on the Geiger no snow lies on the ground beyond the Summit. A few men could cut the road open from the toll-house to the Summit. One man is at work this side of the toll-house, to-day. On the other side, the road has been shoveled two miles, and will doubtless be opened some time this week, if no more storms occur, and then the mills at Washoe can obtain ore via the Geiger grade, Steamboat Springs and Pleasant Valley.

FORT PHIL. KEARNY.—A correspondent at Placerville asks: "Where is Fort Phil. Kearny?" A correspondent in the Montana Post says "it is situated in the forks of the Piney creeks, in the center of the mountain district of the military department of the Platte, and in the heart of the region occupied by the hostile tribes, the Sioux and the Cheyennes. Piney creek is laid down on the "Map of Montana" as a tributary of Green river, and situated about one hundred miles east of Soda Springs, and in Idaho Territory, just west of the line between Idaho and Dakota.

The first boats for Montana this season will leave St. Louis for Benton this month. The Amelia Poe on the 20th, and the Yorktown on the 23d. They belong to J. G. Copelins' line of ten boats that will be on the Missouri this season.

GREEN PEAS.—The San Francisco Call of the 28th ult., announces the appearance of green peas in the market. They were raised in the open air, and the first of the season, and about one month ahead of their usual appearance.

HIGH TIDES.—The Trespass says that to decide a bet, they quote the highest tide points in the world: "Sackville, New Brunswick, 50 feet; Liverpool, 44 feet; Straits of Magellan, 42 feet.

The so-called "Bolting Bill," to prevent the breaking up of a Legislature by [illegible] remaining away from the session has passed the Indiana Senate by a vote of 29 to 14. [illegible] previously passed the House.

Salt Lake City, November 6, 1866.

Collapsed.

The project for the annexation of Utah to Nevada we strongly suspect has fallen through, even if it ever had any real vitality. The resolutions, praying Congress to attach this Territory to that State, although they passed one branch of the Legislature, seemingly with a whirl, were defeated in the other House. The scheme we regarded as decidedly visionary from the start. Out here in Utah it was esteemed a huge joke, and, in the event of its consummation, would evidently have placed the Nevadans in the awkward predicament of the chap who drew the elephant in the lottery. The majority report of the Committee, which reported adversely to the resolutions, took the same view of the matter, and when the Legislature came to figure a little, they discovered that in politics, as in mathematics, four is greater than two, and that a population of eighty thousand would be very apt to outvote thirty thousand. Thereupon, one practical genius, who had succeeded in solving this somewhat intricate mathematical problem, proposed to amend the title of the resolution, so that it should read, "A resolution to annex the State of Nevada to the Territory of Utah." But as we have said, the whole bottom fell out of the scheme, by the rejection of the resolutions, and we presume Congress will hardly move in the matter, seeing that "Barkis is" not "willing."

We think that the Legislature of Nevada, in its final action, did a very wise thing in consigning the whole subject to the tomb of the Capulets. It is very doubtful if any good to anybody could have resulted from it, if it had proved successful. That the union, like many another hasty match, would have proved distasteful to all concerned, is very evident. The people of Utah would have been partially saddled with a very considerable debt, heretofore incurred by Nevada, besides being compelled to defray the major part of the expenses of a not very inexpensive State Government. Their only relief from the latter would have been in the fact that they would have outvoted their neighbors, held a majority in the Legislature, and apportioned and collected taxes pretty much to suit themselves. In this event Nevada would have been in rather a bad fix, and would have hardly relished the amusement of "riding its elephant." But above and beyond this, there would have been no homogeneity between the two classes of the population. Laying aside the fact that Nevada is almost exclusively a mining country, while Utah is mainly an agricultural community, the class antagonism would have absolutely prevented any hope for harmony. Their religions, habits of thought, education, notions, daily life, governments—everything—are diametrically opposed. The Nevadans have, and cherish, a Republican form of government; Utah, and her people, have, and cling to, a Theocracy. In Nevada, the voice of the people is heard; in Utah, it has nothing to do with governmental, or other affairs. In the former, the people instruct their leaders; in the latter, the leaders instruct and counsel the people. Neither party would have been willing to give up to the other, and there could have been no compromise—no half-way ground where they could meet and agree. The days have either passed, or have not yet come, when the Lion and Lamb can lie down peacefully together. If numbers have anything to do with it, it is not difficult to ascertain which would have been the Lion and which the Lamb. If Uncle Sam is not able to cope with Mormonism, we strongly suspect that Nevada is not quite able to take the task on her own shoulders. It is very true that David slew Goliath, but then he had a sling. We are very much afraid that Nevada hasn't any sling. And then, if some of her papers don't stretch the thing amazingly, Nevada is not much of a David. The Enterprise, of the 7th instant, thus ungraciously speaks of her colons:

"The Legislature will adjourn to-day. Heaven be praised! A more graceless set of scamps, as a whole, were never convened for the purposes of State law-making."

That's the commencement of an editorial, which delicately concludes thus:

"But the subject nauseates, and we hope we shall not be called upon to refer to these Legislative knaves again, except as they are gradually sentenced hereafter to the chain-gang or State prison."

We draw a long breath, and inwardly chuckle as we reflect on what a narrow escape Utah has made from being joined to such a graceless set. If we did not know that newspaper men sometimes (too often, we fear,) use such language out of pure spite and malevolence, and that, mankind are rarely as bad as they are painted, we would conclude that Nevada was governed by a very sorry set. On the whole, so far as we in Utah are concerned, it is perhaps better to "bear the ills we have, than fly to others that we know not of."

CURIOUS.—Among the curiosities of newspapedom may be noted the fact that Horace Greeley, of the New York Tribune, (in common with Northern and Southern Democrats,) is reported to have recently spent an hour with President Johnson, to urge upon that functionary the former's scheme of "universal amnesty for universal suffrage," while James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald, the once Jupiter Tonans of slave-holders, is now publishing ponderous editorials, day after day, in favor of the impeachment and removal of Andrew Johnson from the Presidential chair, because he stands across the path of the Republican party!—Rocky Mountain Herald.

Agreed to.

Cole introduced a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to lease certain property in San Francisco for Government purposes. Referred.

Senate adjourned.

Washington, March 13.

Congress will adjourn or take a recess immediately after the supplementary Reconstruction bill becomes a law. Of this there is no doubt. Even if the President vetoes the bill, of which there seems no doubt, members of Congress think they will not be detained here beyond next week. The general opinion is that a recess will be taken till October, and in the meantime see whether the President executes the Reconstruction Act, an item of which the House Judiciary Committee will take cognizance in connection with the impeachment proposition.

Chicago, March 13.

A Fenian State Convention is in session in this city, nearly eighty Circles being represented. President Roberts of New York is here. During yesterday's session, a telegram sent by him to New York was read, in which Roberts said he considered the present movement in Ireland ill-advised, but promised to do all he could to aid the forces in the field.

St. Louis, March 13.

The Legislative Committee appointed some time since to investigate the affairs of the Mountain Road, made a report yesterday reflecting upon the conduct of the Commissioners, and exonerating Governor Fletcher. The minority report, however, declares Fletcher responsible, and recommends that the bonds issued in aid of the Road be declared void.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 13.

The damage in East Tennessee by the late flood is estimated at over $2,000,000. A large number of farmers lost everything.

Cincinnati, March 13.

Reports from below represent great destruction of property by the flood. In many places between New Albany and Evansville the river is thirty miles wide. Thousands of cattle, sheep and hogs have been drowned, and hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain destroyed. The country is covered with floating stacks of hay, and wheat and oats. Nearly all the steamboat landings are under water. Shawneetown is completely inundated. In the lower portions of Covington and Cincinnati hundreds of houses are under water.

New Orleans, March 13.

Dates from the interior of Mexico are to the 25th ult., via Matamoras. At Queretaro, on that day, a column under Emperor Maximilian marched on a position occupied by the Northern Republican army, where the Liberal General Tamar was to make a junction with the army in Selagia.

Puebla is still occupied by the Imperialists. It was thought probable that a battle between Maximilian and the Liberals would be fought before March 10th.

The Ocean Queen is in from San Juan. President Martinez of Nicaragua was to surrender the office to his successor, Guayman, on March 1st.

Nothing of importance transpired at the headquarters of the Gleason branch of the Fenians, yesterday.

It is stated that private information has been received to the effect that Sir Frederick Bruce advised the British Government to permit no more news of Fenian risings to be forwarded over the cable.

Roberts' Fenian Senate has been called together by Vice President James Gibbons.

The Brooklyn Navy Yard has been reduced to a peace footing.

Navy officers say that the Dunderberg is not as formidable a war vessel as our turreted Monitors, and point to the capture of the Atlanta and Tennessee, which were types of the Dunderberg, as proof of their assertion.

The Herald's Atlanta correspondent reports that the prejudice against negro suffrage in Georgia is gradually giving way. The people are anxious to have the reconstruction question settled, so that Northern capital can flow into the State and develop its mineral and other resources.

A match was made yesterday between Sam. Colyer and Harney Aaron, to fight in June next for the championship of America, and $3,000.

The Times' special says the famous suits of Russell, Major & Waddell's creditors against the United States (known as the Floyd acceptances suit,) will shortly come up again in the U. S. Supreme Court.

The Tribune's special corrects the statement that the name of General Herron had been sent to the Senate as U. S. Marshal for New Orleans. No nomination for the position has been made. There is great rivalry for this Marshalship, altogether, no doubt, by the fact that the emoluments of the office are increased to $250,000 per annum by the passage of the Bankrupt bill.

It is probable that the gold claimed by the Richmond banks, now in the U. S. Treasury, belonged originally to the General Government, and was captured by rebels in the early part of the war, while deposited in the Southern Mints.

Colonel Taylor, ex-M. C. from Tennessee, has been nominated Indian Commissioner, in place of Bogy, rejected. It is thought he also will be rejected.

The Herald's special says that an expedition against the hostile Indians of Kansas and Nebraska, under the command of Major General Hancock, and fully armed and equipped, will start from Fort Leavenworth. General Hancock's orders are that all trains shall be organized for defence by the election of captain and other officers, and forming the teamsters and all others belonging to a train into one or more companies. No trains shall be allowed to pass into the Indian country which number less than twenty wagons and thirty armed men. Whenever an attack is made by Indians upon any train traveling the overland routes the commanding officer of the nearest military post is directed to furnish prompt assistance.

New York, March 14.

Vera Cruz advices to the 2d inst., state that great excitement prevailed there. A strict surveillance was established over all the city's approaches. It was rumored that marines from the Austrian war vessels were to be transferred to San Juan de Ulloa for the protection of the city. A sweeping conscription was expected every moment. Maximilian left affairs in the hands of his Council Ministers, on taking the field. The garrison in the City of Mexico was kept continually on the run by alarms from guerrillas. Some 1,000 French deserted on the march from Puebla to the Capital; most of them joined the Liberals.

THE LABOR QUESTION IN THE MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.—After a full hearing of employers and operatives the committee of the Massachusetts House have reported upon the "eight-hour project." The majority of the committee, Mr. Amasa Walker and Mr. Wm. Hyde, report adversely. They reiterate the trite but ignored principles of political economy. They say that the matter of hours of labor, like that of rate of wages, must be left to the regulation of demand and supply, and is not a proper subject of legislation. They point out to workingmen that their real grievance is the false currency in which they are paid. Mr. E. K. Rogers dissents, and urges the passage of a law upon the subject, making ten hours a legal day's labor in factories and on farms, and eight hours in mechanical employments. The committee is unanimous in recommending that increased efficiency be given to the laws forbidding the employment of children between ten and fourteen; that all factory operatives under eighteen shall only work sixty hours a week, or ten hours a day; that one hour a day shall be allowed for dinner; that a special inspector of labor shall be appointed to protect the interests of the working classes, and that a Bureau of Statistics be established for the purpose of collecting and making available all facts relating to the industrial and social interests of Massachusetts.

THE AMENDMENT.—The following are the States which have already ratified the pending Constitutional Amendment, to wit: Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Tennessee, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin—18. The Rhode Island Senate has also passed a ratifying resolution, which will no doubt receive the approval of the House in a few days, and thus make the total number of ratifying States 19. Of these yet finally to act upon the subject, the following will undoubtedly adopt resolutions of ratification, to wit: California, Iowa, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, making a total of 23. The following have formally rejected it, to wit: Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia—13.

THOSE who have a taste for the horrible will find satisfaction in a new Washington rumor, to the effect that the secret mission of Fred. Seward on the steamer Gettysburg is for the purpose of intercepting the Swatara, and offering to John Surratt the promise of a pardon from President Johnson if he will not implicate the President in the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. Young Seward is supposed also to have a filial motive for wishing to induce Surratt to keep silence, as it is a part of the horrible theory that Secretary Seward was in the assassination plot, and consented to be almost killed in order to disarm suspicion! What would the gorillas of Africa think of our civilization if they could read the daily telegrams from Washington?—Springfield Republican.

DURING a recent survey of Mount Diablo, California, the chief of the party discovered some very rare specimens of fossil sunfish, sea urchins, starfish, and other beautiful petrifactions. He says that these fossils are in great abundance, and can be procured from the highest point of range dividing Bear Creek from the Laganto, about five miles from the San Jose stage road crossing. The fossils are apparently crystalized or embedded in a lime cement, and are arranged in elegant patterns of rare beauty, like the meridian lines of an artificial globe. The whole mountain, for miles in extent, is one mass of conglomerate, formed in fossils of marine animals and plants, showing that at some period the ocean had its banks on beds along and over this ridge, 3,000 feet above its level.

Wells, Fargo & Co. announce their appointment as the agents of the French company which has chartered the ship Great Eastern. The vessel has been thoroughly refitted and provided with new boilers, and refurnished in all departments. She will only carry one class of passengers, and has accommodations for 2,000. With the seven saloons she can dine 1,000 of them at one time. It is expected by the commander, Sir James Anderson, that the ship will make the passage in nine says. The first trip from New York is fixed for April 9th, and from Brest, April 27th. The agents are prepared to secure berths by telegraph, and the rate of passage money decides the part of the ship in which their berths will be allotted.

THE DREADFUL ACCIDENT AT GRANTSVILLE. The Reese River Reveille, of March 9th, has the following:

We gave a brief and imperfect account yesterday of an accident which occurred in the Great Eastern mine at Grantsville, twelve miles south of Ione, in Nye county. We are now able to give a full statement of the appalling affair, as furnished by Mr. George W. Veatch, of the town of Union, in the same county. He writes: The tunnel of the Great Eastern mine, belonging to the Knickerbocker mill company, was the scene of a most frightful accident about three o'clock P. M. of March 1st. David Horton, Emile Simon and others were on the eve of completing a long and hard contract in unusually tough rock. While Horton and Simon were finishing the tamping of a charge overdead, the cartridge fired, and they received the full force of the powder and the flying rocks directly in their faces, which scorched and burned and mangled them in a shocking manner. Horton groped his way out of the tunnel, which is 300 feet long, over a path strewed with loose rock, and striking the car near the mouth of the tunnel, he pushed it ahead of him out on to the dump, when he called for help. Some men hearing his cries hastened to his assistance, while others hurried into the tunnel to look after Simon. They found him lying among the rocks, a blackened, mangled, bloody mass of quivering flesh. The broken rocks were covered with blood; scraps of flesh and fingers were sticking to the wall of the tunnel, which showed along their entire length the gory marks of Horton as he made his way out.

A messenger was immediately dispatched to Ione for a surgeon, who returned with Dr. J. G. Riddle in the short space of three hours. Simon was first examined, and declared to be mortally wounded. Horton's cries and groans were hushed by chloroform, and he was examined by the surgeon. His head, face, breast, and left shoulder were fearfully burned and bruised; the flesh on his face and head was gashed and lacerated, and driven full of pieces of stone and splinters from the tamping bar; his left eye was also filled with fragments of rock and splinters from the bar, while his right eye was mangled and burned out. His left shoulder was a mass of burned flesh, seamed with numberless pieces of broken rock, while the arm below was broken, and from the elbow down was a shapeless thing of flesh, bones, and cloth. His arm was amputated immediately below the elbow with great dispatch and skill, and the broken bone set; and after all his wounds were dressed and bandaged, the poor fellow was recalled to life and suffering. He lies sightless and maimed. He may recover slowly, only to walk through life an object of sympathy and charity. His companion, Simon, received the force of the charge in the head and face; he was striking while Horton was holding the tamping bar. The flesh was burned and torn from his face; his teeth were knocked out, and his nose was crushed; his left temple was driven in, and two frightful holes were in the center of his forehead, through which the brain slowly oozed; and his eyeless sockets were filled with small pieces of rock. He became partially rational during the night, and wholly so at ten o'clock A. M. of the 2d inst. On being questioned as to his affairs, he answered with reluctance, and said he was not going to die, but would be well in a few days "to finish up the contract." After this was gone through, the drugged cup was put to his lips, and he slept the sleep that knows no waking. He died quietly at eleven o'clock P. M. of Saturday. Both of the men were good and industrious miners, and were favorites with all who knew them. Emile Simon resided formerly in Sierra county, California, where he was well known, and he had many acquaintances in this State. He was a native of Savoy, France, and a few days before his death he received a letter from his venerable father there, who was sound in body and mind at the advanced age of 99 years.

Excitement.—Yesterday afternoon a noise was heard on Main street like the howling of many dogs; everybody rushed from their stores into the street, and there beheld a large Newfoundland dog beset by about a dozen of the canine species of every description of color and breed. The victim of this onslaught backed himself against the front door of Gilbert & Sons store, and feeling confident that he had good backers, assumed a defensive position, and by the display of a row of teeth which threatened to tear to pieces the first who came in contact with them, managed to back out all his competitors, and then in true Sigel style, made a masterly retreat. Merchants, clerks, loungers, idlers and everybody else left the scene of action and nought was heard, save "There's an item!" "Now for a local." "Note it down," and in obedience to the wish of the public we have done so.

Skating.—The skating pond near the city has been crowded for the last few days. Omnibusses, carriages, and all other styles of conveyance, have been called into requisition in order to accommodate the public. We are told that on yesterday there were hundreds indulging in this most agreeable amusement. We have been promised by an eye witness, an account of the amusing scenes that took place, and when received, shall make the record for the benefit of our readers. Hurry up Dick.

Overland Fare to be Reduced.—We are informed by Mr. Agent Crockett, that on and after the first day of April next, the fare from Austin to Denver will be reduced to $175, and to Omaha $225, which will be a reduction of $61 from the present rates. The Overland Company appears to be determined to get a fair share of the travel to and from the Atlantic States, and to have learned that cheap fare, good accommodation, and dispatch are the certain means of success.—Reveille, March 9th.

Protection from Indians.—General Hancock has assumed command of the expedition against the hostile Indians of Nebraska and Kansas, and has issued orders, that no train will be permitted to pass into the Indian country unless properly organized, with not less than 20 wagons and 30 armed men. In case of attack by Indians, while pursuing the Overland routes, the commander of the nearest military post is ordered to render immediate assistance.

Overland Mail.—The mails from California, destined for the Atlantic States, have been sent by steamer from San Francisco. This is in consequence of the storms that have prevailed on the Sierras and east of the Missouri river.

Military Commanders.—By telegraph we are informed, that General Grant, in General Order No. 10, assigns the following officers to the command of the Rebel States:—Generals Schofield, Sickles, Thomas, Ord, and Sheridan.

Through Mails.—As yet no through mails have reached us from the East or West, but from the almost superhuman efforts made by the Mail Contractors and Express Company, we may look for one about Saturday.

Good Weather.—We congratulate everybody on the pleasant weather we are all now enjoying, with the wish that it may continue for a long time.

Nominated.—Colonel Taylor, ex-member of Congress, has been nominated Indian Commissioner, in the place of Bogy, who was rejected.

Masonic.—The Wasatch Lodge will hold a special meeting at their Hall this evening at the usual hour.

The Occidental Restaurant has reduced board to $10 per week, in advance. [mr15-4t

Chicago Items.—The Chicago Post of February 18th contains the following:

Colonel W. D. Turner, who acted surgeon for Taylor's Battery for some time during the war, and was afterwads surgeon for the 97th Illinois infantry and at a still later period Colonel of the 6th United States heavy artillery (colored), died a few weeks ago at his plantation, Clear Lake, Arkansas, of congestive chills.

Two lads, fourteen and sixteen years old, respectively, and by name Allen and David Ramsey, are at present in this city, searching for their mother, who left them in Clinton, Michigan, about a year and a half ago, since which time she has—having been a widow—married again, but to whom the lads do not know. A few days since, at Mansfield, Michigan, they received a letter signed "Mother," dated in Chicago, and telling them to come here, but giving neither surname nor address.

A letter from Mollie Trussell to a lady who had interested herself in her behalf has been published. In it the writer declares her repentance and her fixed design of reformation. She left Chicago yesterday for New York, where she is to spend two years in a Catholic institution.

Stage of Missouri River.—City Engineer's office, February 20, 12 m. Elevation above low water mark of January 1867, 2.86 feet; elevation below high water of 1866, 12.00 feet; rise within last twenty-four hours, 0.25 feet.

From Nevada.

The Reveille, of the 8th inst., furnishes us with the following news:

We learn, through a letter written by Mr. O. D. Gass, who was a member of the last Legislature of the Territory of Arizona, from Piute county, northwest of the Colorado river, that at the date of February 12th, "there were sixty soldiers stationed at the mouth of El Dorado Canyon. Miners are preparing to resume work in the canyon. A semi-weekly mail now runs past the canyon to Mohave City, about sixty miles south. The Indians are unsettled, and a few days ago they stole a number of horses from Cottonwood Island. A company of soldiers is stationed at Callville, where they have commenced building barracks. The people of this section are united against the Nevada project of stealing us from Arizona."

A flock of some 400 head of sheep from Utah were driven through town this morning for pasturage in the ranges northwest. The sheep were generally thin, and unfit for the table of any one but a prize-fighter, whose favorite diet when training for a "mill" is lean mutton. Mutton has been scarce in this market for several months.

Among the many contributions of late to the geographical knowledge of the State, especially that portion of it lying between its northern boundary and the Colorado river, and extending east to the Territory of Utah, the map drawn by Mr. E. W. Welton, for the Committee on the Paris Exposition, is decidedly the most valuable. It exhibits with amazing accurracy every mining district in the region; delineates with spirit and fidelity the numerous parallel ranges of mountains and the intervening valleys; it locates the various saline deposits; and marks the course of the Pacific Railroad, as well as the great overland avenue and the lines of telegraph. The route pursued by different exploring parties to the south and southeast—as those of Colonel Buell in 1863-4, and Gov. Blasdel in 1866,—are laid down with accuracy; and the different mail routes, present and projected, are carefully noted. In Mr. Welton's report, accompanying his map, he says: "All the important mineral districts yet discovered in the Reese River region are delineated. Several districts, which were formed by nomadic companies of prospectors for speculative purposes, have been omitted. Absolute accuracy is not claimed. The map, however, is sufficiently accurate for all practical purposes."

Large veins in ambitious districts may rear their crests and vaunt their giant proportions, but the Great Eastern of this district bears the palm for high grade ore. It is the nonpareil. We have just been furnished with the result of the reduction of 137 tons of its ore at the Keystone, which is so extraordinary that we invite special attention to it. One lot of 116 tons produced 14,232 pounds of amalgam, which yielded 2,920 pounds of bullion of the value of $45,377.48. A small lot of 21 tons, consisting of fine particles of granite and rich ore, the siftings of the first lot, produced 711 pounds of amalgam, which yielded 136 pounds of bullion of the value of $2,131.23. The average yield of the large lot was $391.18 per ton; of the small lot of siftings, $101.50 per ton. The yield of the whole, 137 tons, made the grand total of $47.508.71. What silver mine, large or small, wherever located, can equal this result? The superintendent, Dr. Goodfellow, has cause of pride in his Great Eastern.

Captured.—The Leavenworth Times, of February 22d, says:

The streets of St. Joseph were made lively on the 19th, by a chase after a horse thief by the name of James W. Gibson. He had been arrested, and while en route for the jail broke away, and after running through several streets and alleys, was cornered in a private residence. Before he was captured he snapped his revolver at the breast of Sheriff Fish, and that officer returned the same, wounding him in the breast. Gibson is one of a family notorious for their villainies. He was a Captain under Si Gordon, and was arrested near St. Joseph during the war.

They have some sarcastic fellows in the Territorial Legislature of Utah. On the 10th of January a memorial passed both Houses of that august body, requesting Congress to repeal the National statute prohibiting polygamy in the Territories. The law in question has been five years on our books, and all that time has been a perfect dead letter. The Mormons have treated it with supreme contempt; the Elders have preached disobedience; the Saints have gone on with their wholesale marrying and sealing, and the head Prophet has taken his forty-fifth helpmeet.—Freedom's Champion.

In Hot Water Again.—Manager Potter is again in some trouble with his theatrical corps. The following card from Walter Bray appears in the Omaha Herald, of February 26th:

The announcement that Mr. Potter made last night, as an excuse for not performing according to the programme, as far as I am concerned, is a falsehood. I waited till three o'clock for Mr. Potter to keep his engagement with me, which he failed to do. I then sent in my part in time for some one else to do it.

Bonds Issued.—Bonds have been issued to the Union Pacific Railroad and its branches as follows: Union Pacific Railroad, west from Omaha, 305 miles, $4,880,000; Atchison and Pike's Peak Road, west from Atchison, 40 miles, $640,000; Union Pacific Road, Eastern Division, 155 miles, $2,480,000; Western Pacific Road, in California, 20 miles, $320,000; Central Pacific Railroad, 114 miles, $602,000. —Freedom's Champion, Feb. 21st.

Railroad Committee.—In the City Council of Omaha, on the 20th ult., a resolution was adopted appointing Messrs. O. P. Hurford, A. S. Paddock, A. Kountze, E. Millard and F. Smith, a committee to proceed to New York and pledge to the Union Pacific Railroad Company the sum of $100,000 to construct the railroad bridge across the Missouri river at Omaha.
